

The Misuse of Trusts

By Anna Von Reitz

Trusts have been used since Roman times as a means of transferring and preserving property. The word "trust" comes from the Latin word, "trucido" which means to kill, slaughter, or murder wantonly.

This nicely points out that trusts have always created as much havoc as they prevented, as donors of property changed their minds, trustees proved themselves greedy and dishonest, and beneficiaries were often killed so that the trustees or someone else could inherit

For these reasons, trusts fell out of use until the Roman Catholic Church revived them during the Crusades. Having somehow concluded that killing for Jesus made sense, they brought back the use of trusts as means to hold the property of Crusaders who rode to uncertain ends and for equally uncertain periods of time.

Trusts proved just as troublesome then as ever, but the Church was often the ultimate beneficiary profiting from the deaths and absences caused by the Crusades. In their view, it worked out well enough, thank you.

From then on the use of trusts continued, usually in the form of land trusts that guaranteed the orderly transfer of land from one generation to another and prevented it from being stolen via local taxation and other gambits.

After the Crusades the next big advancement of trusts and trust law came as a result of the Great Fire of London, which left a large segment of the population either dead or missing. Survivors were forced to find new places to live, return to ancestral haunts in the country, or even leave England for a time. This left the municipal government ham-strung, in that it had to clean up the wreckage and rebuild, yet in many cases couldn't find the owners to ask permission or return salvaged items.

The Cestui Que Vie Act published in answer to this dilemma in 1666 is still alive and kicking.

Imagine any situation in which a man left home for some reason and didn't return for years: he fled to escape a fire and afterward assumed that all was lost, he was shanghaied into the French Foreign Legion, he was marooned on a desert island in the South Seas, he became a trader like Marco Polo, or like Bilbo Baggins, he simply stepped outside his door one morning and followed a road out into the wide world. What happens to his home and possessions?

The short answer is that after a period of time set by law, he is declared "missing, presumed dead" by the courts and his material possessions are rolled into a Cestui Que Vie trust and his next of kin becomes his "presumed beneficiary". If there is no next of kin, the municipality or other unit of government becomes the presumed beneficiary.

This is precisely what happened to millions of Americans as a result of the legal chicanery and public bankruptcies that took place prior to World War I and again prior to World War II.

Their land was used as surety backing the debts of The United States of America, Inc. and their private property and labor was used as surety backing the debts of the United States of America, Inc., all without their knowledge or consent.

Moreover, Franklin Delano Roosevelt deliberately created the legal presumption that they weren't living men at all, but were instead US Foreign Situs Trusts operating in the international jurisdiction of the sea, which effectively supported the presumption of the courts that we were all "missing, presumed lost at sea" and enabled the Municipal government of Washington, DC to create and operate Cestui Que Vie trusts operated in our NAMES.

JOHN MICHAEL DOE was created at precisely the same moment that John Michael Doe was presumed dead. It's HIS birth certificate you've been carrying around all these years.

And the beneficiary? It could hardly be the Municipal government, since they were saddled with the responsibility of creating all these trusts and acting as trustee, so instead, they named the Territorial State of State franchises, such as the State of Ohio, as the beneficiaries.

As a result, when Americans were summoned to a court hearing involving what appeared to be their NAME, they were actually being addressed as Municipal Employees acting as administrative agents of a Cestui Que Vie trust that just happened to be operated in their own names.

The victims were never told a word about any of these convenient provisions so kindly made "for" them by the Territorial and Municipal government corporations responsible for this mess.

As a result nearly all Americans have a public trust--- a Cestui Que Vie trust --- named after them. As a further result, that Cestui Que Vie trust is set up to benefit the Territorial United States franchises operated as "States of States".

We were stripped bare and picked clean by our own employees. Our international trustees -- the British Monarch and the Pope, who were supposed to prevent any such chicanery -- went right along with it and profited handsomely from it.

The municipal government corporation dba UNITED STATES and all its franchises including its "wards" doing business as Cestui Que Vie trusts with names like JOHN MICHAEL DOE, have been placed in Chapter 7 bankruptcy and are being liquidated by Secondary Creditors.

The stage was set for the biggest heist in human history.

Everything that we rightfully own, everything that the Territorial States of States own, and everything that the Municipal STATES OF STATES owned, was put up for grabs by Barack Obama in 2015. It was a domino effect. He bankrupted the UNITED STATES, INC. which bankrupted its franchises, including our Cestui Que Vie trusts, which in turn bankrupted the Territorial State of State organizations that were presumed to be our Beneficiaries, too.

Even though we Americans paid for it all and are the Paramount Security Interest Holders in this gigantic bankruptcy, we were nowhere to be found---left drifting around in a leaky boat somewhere in the Atlantic thanks to FDR, asleep, never told a single syllable about all the legal presumptions being made about us and our property interests, much less all the unscrupulous, self-interested, backdoor double-dealing aimed at stealing our assets.

But we weren't all asleep. Some of us woke up and paddled back to shore, arriving mostly in small groups and in the middle of the night, cold, hungry, and angry as hibernating bears. We set to work.

At each turn the managers called – “Presidents” – of the criminally inclined governmental services corporations tried their best to undermine us. Barack Obama was especially brilliant. He couldn't weasel his way out of the actual Constitution, so he tried to vacate it by bankrupting the corporations that were holding up the federal side of it.

We promptly issued new Sovereign Letters Patent and a Declaration of Joint Sovereignty and concluded agreements with the American Native Nations to take over the federal side of the constitutional contract under their separate charters. The Constitution was preserved and those responsible for this mess are still on the hook.

We continued to research the situation and set our house in order. We gave ample notice and due process and we established liens, including agricultural liens, against their whole apparatus and all their franchises. We claimed back everything, every iota.

We claimed back our Trade Names and reconveyed them to the land and soil of our birth and permanently domiciled all “vessels” related to us on the land jurisdiction we are heir to and secured it all on the public record. We also claimed back all our purportedly “missing” relatives to before the Civil War.

Last but not least, we visited The United States District Court for the District of Columbia and announced that against all odds, the Paramount Security Interest Holders and Priority Creditors of the UNITED STATES and the USA, Inc., are back home and on shore.

That is the one flaw in their whole plan and in the structure of Cestui Que Vie trusts in general. If the original donor of the estate is located and comes forward to claim it, the estate has to be returned free and clear of debts accumulated by the merely presumed Beneficiaries, and restored to the original owners unharmed.

Of course, the real harm these disloyal employees have caused for six generations cannot be made good by any amount of money or browscraping. Lives and time lost can't be replaced. Opportunities and dreams that Americans lost out on individually and collectively as a result of these schemes will never come again. The damage done to the rest of the world can't be wiped away, either.

It was the plan of the Roman Catholic Church and some other elements to just bankrupt everything and everyone worldwide, roll up all the assets into a giant public trust – the One People's Public Trust--- and call it good. This would have ended private property ownership throughout the world and created a larger version of the Public Charitable Trust that was used to implement these schemes in America. It would have put unaccountable, unelected, and largely unknown trustees in control of all assets worldwide.

Pardon me, but we have already seen where that goes.

The Public Charitable Trust (PCT) was set up in the 1860's as a welfare trust to benefit the freed plantation slaves. Instead, it was used as a holding trust to seize upon everyone else's assets, especially our land assets. It was the vehicle for the vast plundering and pillaging of all the individual public trusts that took place here over the past 150 years. The OPPT would have simply been a larger, global version of this same evil.

Respect for the rights and especially the property rights of each man and woman has never been a strong point with the Roman Catholic Church nor of the various Monarchs the Church has set up to rule over people. Respect for free will, though ordained by the True God, hasn't been a strong suit, either.

They created the Cestui Que Vie trusts in fraud, and we have reclaimed them in truth.

There won't be any giant communistic global public trust run by faceless and unaccountable trustees and there won't be an end to private property rights on Earth. The days of Commercial Feudalism and universal enslavement washed down with artificially created scarcity are over.

See this article and over 600 others on Anna's website here:www.annavonreitz.com
To support this work look for the PayPal button on this website.